FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13.

Freacher McLendon, who is in Greenville, says, "Many a man joins the church for the same reason that a regiment cracks a safe—for what he can get out of it."

We notice that Mr. Hughes does not like the manner in which President Wilson handled the Mexican situation. We have not as yet noticed where he rendered any service on the border. He is great on telling how and what to do but when it comes to action he is sick in bed and cannot go.

Do you read the advertisements in the papers? Some of them are real amusing. We noticed one a few days ago something like this "See us for the divorce. Why do elsewhere to be cheated? Try us."

We will be open Fair week for the purpose of receiving subscription accounts. All delinquents are cordially invited to pay us a visit. For the benefit of those who cannot reach us during the day we will remain open at night if you will telephone us.

Again comes the season for that pestiferous book agent and that photographic picture agent. They have been memorizing that line "I hope all summer and as they appear a prospective buyer they just walk up and close a cylinder head blows out. Beware of their alluring propositions. They who promise the most usually deliver the least."

Elsewhere in this issue appears an article copied from our esteemed contemporary, The Yorkville Enquirer. The Enquirer states that a being sold in all towns throughout the State and in Chester the sale of whiskey is more open than elsewhere. "We have no doubt but that. The Enquirer has the facts all right. However, we regret to learn that Chester is in such a class as the Enquirer puts it in."

It was plainly evident on last Monday that whiskey was freely flowing in Chester, and the Mayor's court records Tuesday morning will substantiate this statement. We are informed that something like 40 cases were disposed of Tuesday morning. Just whether or not this is correct we are unable to say but we know the court room was crowded to its capacity.

THE BOLL WEEVIL COMING.
According to reports that Dr. J. Marshall brings from Alabama where he has been looking after his farming interests as to the progress that the boll weevil is making in this direction. He believes our people should begin at once to prepare for its coming. In the opinion of Dr. Marshall we shall not be able to make more than two or three crops before it will be here. Mr. Marshall says that the people of Alabama are preparing to overcome the great losses they are sustaining on account of the ruin of their cotton crops by raising cattle, and planting other crops.

Mr. Marshall says the eggs are laid in the cotton forms along in July, and these forms drop off in the rows and soon hatch out hundreds of weevils which find their way to the bolls and bore into them. Riding along one would see a boll, and it would be green and have every appearance of being alright, but upon opening it you find it filled with nothing but a black substance with the seed and line completely destroyed. He says that picking up the forms just after falling a large portion of the crop may be saved. This was done by many Alabama farmers, but the excessive rains prevented them from gathering up the forms as they would have done, and so the crop was lost.

We should heed this warning and make preparation to meet the coming of this fearful pest. If our people will begin at once to prepare the coming of the weevil will not be so disastrous, but if they wait until it is upon the situation will be fatal. It will paralyze business of all kinds. Greenwood Journal.

MASS MEETING.
The citizens of Chester county are called to meet at the county court house in Chester, S. C. Saturday next, Oct. 13, at 11 A. M. to discuss the legislative proposition for the amendment of laws bonds for good improvement. Each township is called to send ten delegates, including

SAYS WHISKEY SOLD IN CHESTER MORE OR LESS OPENLY.

We have not the slightest doubt of the correctness of the statement of the legislator of Columbia, that the prohibition laws are freely violated in that city. And we are not surprised at the attitude of Mayor Griffith, who says that if furnished with proof to convict, he will take drastic action. We do not doubt either that policemen have claimed that they have been removed away from the business of direct actions of "Prohibition" to the residence sections to keep them from interfering with the tigers. Liquor is being sold in every incorporated town in South Carolina, and also in places that are not incorporated. Not only is whiskey sold but also "ginger" and other alcoholic compounds, as well as pure alcohol. The liquor laws are violated in Yorkville, Chester, Rock Hill and elsewhere. There is really not much secret about the matter in Chester, where the business is carried on more or less openly. There is not a mayor or recorder anywhere who will not agree to punish liquor sellers on proof to convict. But the question is, how is such proof to be furnished? People of experience who have fought the liquor traffic for years and years know the almost impossibility of furnishing such proof. And really we do not know that mayors and police are to blame any more than anybody else. About the only thing that can put a stop to the violations of the liquor laws is whole some determined public sentiment. We do not mean to say that any more passive sentiment is going to do anything. The sentiment has got to be strong enough to develop such aggressive action. The tigers must be made to realize that their business will not be tolerated, and they can be made to realize this only by actual demonstration. To achieve anything against the liquor traffic calls for a good deal more than talk. And as long as the liquor traffic goes on in any community, the responsibility must not be laid at the door of the municipal officials alone; but at the door of the entire community. The whole community is responsible. Yorkville Enquirer, October 10th.

PUBLISHING PROBLEM GROWS MORE DIFFICULT.

Taking the country as a whole, many newspapers have suspended publication during the past year, and there have been many consolidations, thus reducing the number of papers. These efforts, however, have not solved the problems which confront the publishers, and practically speaking the entire country is faced with a crisis in the newspaper industry. The publishers are, in fact, facing a crisis in their career, brought about by the increased cost of doing business. In South Carolina many of the country papers have raised their prices and increased advertising rates. The larger dailies will probably not increase their subscription prices, but will increase advertising rates. At a matter of fact, the small dailies find themselves in a worse plight than the large papers or the weeklies. Most of them find it impracticable to increase subscription rates and, as a rule, more difficult to advance advertising rates than in the case of a weekly paper. There is a scarcity of the entire country, and the people of the small cities where daily papers are published expect to continue to enjoy the privilege of this service, they will have to rely to the support of the papers in a very different way to that which has characterized their support in other years. This is true of every small daily in the South, and probably it is also the case of the daily papers in other sections of the country.—Rock Hill Herald.

"Don't the women of Chester want to help re-select Woodrow Wilson? Want to help avert the terrible calamity his defeat would be? Money is badly needed now more than ever. Let us think of the anguish of heart by the misery he has saved us and carry our grateful gifts to the National Exchange Bank by Tuesday afternoon, where they will be forwarded to give three dollars, hoping others will double it."

GLENN-ABELL

One of the prettiest of the fall weddings was that of Miss Alice Hall Glenn and Robert E. Abell, M. D., which took place on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Glenn in the presence of the relatives and intimate friends.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. K. Hardin, D. D., of the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal church, of Washington, D. C., a brother-in-law of the bride.

The lower floor of the handsome home was thrown on suite and charmingly decorated for the occasion. The spacious hall was used for the ceremony room. At one end an improvised altar was arranged of palms and ferns and evergreens, a pyramid of burning white candles starred this background of green. An aisle was formed from the doorway to the altar by white pedestals each crowned with a basket of ferns and white carnations looped to each basket was the broad white ribbon forming the aisle through which the bride party entered.

Miss Winnie Manning, of Clie, on the piano accompanied on the violin by Mrs. James H. Glenn. The first strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, the bride party slowly descended the broad staircase. First came the two maids of honor, Miss Evelyn Smith, of Hopkinsville, Ky., and Elizabeth Glenn, a sister of the bride. Next came little Moffat McConnell all in white bearing the wedding ring on a white satin pillow, the ring being a circle of diamonds set in platinum. Then came the bride and groom, the bride handsomely gowned in pearl satin with draperies of silk and silver lace trimmings and wore a tulle veil. The bride's bouquet was a shower of Lilies of the Valley and orchids.

The maids of honor wore beautiful gowns of white tulle over silver cloth with trimmings of silver and carried huge arm bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums. The beautiful and impressive ring ceremony was used.

Just before the ceremony Prof. R. E. Allen of Chicago College, Columbia, sang "Cadenza" ("At Dawning") and "Mavis" ("Entrances").

The parlor was attractively decorated in white and ferns, here the bride's register was presided over by Misses Rebecca James of Chester and Elizabeth Beckstrom of Richmond. The library where the wedding gifts were on display was in autumn decorations. Huge bowls of cut flowers in the autumn shades and autumn leaves in profusion were used here with pretty effect. Mesdames J. S. Marcus and A. M. Allen presided in this room.

The dining room where a delicious salad course followed by coffee and wedding cake was served, was most attractive in the chosen colors of white, pink and green. The beautifully appointed table wore a handsome lace cover the centerpiece being a stately candelabrum holding unshaded white tapers. Southern smilax formed a garland around the centerpiece and sprays were strewn over the cloth. Vases of pink roses and white carnations and ferns were placed on the buffet, serving table and china closet, thus completing the lovely decorations of the room. Mrs. S. C. Carter and Mrs. J. R. Dye presided in this room and Misses Sarah Carter, Sarah Carroll, Helen "Milkmaid" and Louise Simpson served. They wore dainty dresses of white and pink. Mrs. Bessie Brice and Miss Annie Hardin and Mrs. Lucius Melton invited the guests into the dining room.

The bride attended the Columbia College for Women in Columbia, and then went to Randolph Macon Women's College, at Lynchburg, Va., where she was graduated last June, and is one of Chester's most accomplished and attractive young ladies. The groom is the skilled surgeon at the Chester Sanatorium and is a native of the Lowryville section of Chester county, being a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua L. Abell. For some time Dr. Abell was assistant surgeon in one of the leading hospitals in Baltimore.

Dr. and Mrs. Abell are among South Carolina's most popular young couples.

The bride and groom left on the night train for a wedding trip. The bride wearing a traveling suit of midnight blue with hat, shoes and gloves to match.

The out-of-town guests present were: Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Young, of Clinton, Miss Rebecca James, of Washington, N. C., R. E. Allen, of Columbia, Miss Evelyn Smith of Hopkinsville, Ky., Winnie Manning, of Clie, Elizabeth Beckstrom, of Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Abell, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Abell, Stewart Abell and Miss Lettie Abell, of Lowryville, and the Rev. E. K. Hardin, D. D. of Washington, D. C.

Old Prices On NEW SHOES

The reason Kluttz Department Store is selling so many shoes is that we are underselling other stores. We bought our all leather stock of new shoes some time ago and can sell you at the same prices as last Fall. We can't do this long as our large stock is being daily lowered by the heavy buying public. Leather, like flour, is daily advancing, and there is an telling how high leather will advance. Kluttz all leather shoe prices will save you much money. We have a $10,000 shoe stock ready for you at last year's prices. If you want to save money, hurry along, as hundreds of others are daily doing.

WITH VICTORY NEAR HE ALMOST GAVE UP FIGHT

Columbian Now His Wife To Thank For Urging Him On

WON AFTER 30 YEARS

Moral In This Story Perhaps Applies
To Many Others

There is a moral in this. It has to do with a person who came very near giving up too soon. And the story is told by his wife—a story that perhaps is true with regard to many others.

Mrs. Mary Gordon, of 720 Seventh St., Olympia, a suburb of Columbia, says Tanlac made a well man of her husband, though he had suffered more than 30 years with a severe form of stomach trouble before he began taking it. And the moral in this is: "Don't give up," for she says her husband almost lost heart when the first bottle of Tanlac failed to give him the relief he expected, and it was only because of his wife's urging that he continued to take Tanlac until she says he was a well man when the fourth bottle was taken.

Mrs. Gordon's statement is endorsement of Tanlac.

"My husband suffered from catarrh of the stomach almost all his life—for more than 30 years—and he had to very badly. He got in such bad shape that almost everything he ate hurt him and nothing seemed to nourish him. He would have sick spells and could not work, and his troubles caused him to lose a lot of time from his work.

"He was in bad shape, and could not go anywhere hardly, and he had lost a lot of weight. It was almost impossible for him to sleep well at night, and sleeplessness troubled him a lot. Finally, he decided to take Tanlac, for he had read a lot about it and knew several people who had endorsed it.

"He says Tanlac cured him of that stomach trouble. He sleeps well now, and he is in fine shape in every way. The last Tanlac he took was taken two or three months ago, and he never has any trouble with his stomach now and he can eat anything he wants and it never hurts him. He says he feels better now than he has in years.

"We spent a lot of money for his stomach now and he can eat anything he wants and it never hurts him. He says he feels better now than he has in years.

"He took four bottles of Tanlac. The first bottle did not help him and he did not want to get any more; but I persuaded him to get the second and it helped him a right smart bit. And the next two bottles broke up his troubles and he is in just fine shape now. I sure can recommend Tanlac, because Tanlac did more for my husband than all the other medicines he ever took and made a well man of him, even though he had suffered with this stomach trouble more than 30 years."

Tanlac, the master medicine is sold exclusively by Leitner's Drug store, Chester; Lockhart Mill store, Blackstock; D. Ferguson, Fort Lawn; Lockhart; Kennedy Mercantile Co., Price $1. per bottle straight.

A RAILROAD PRESIDENT ABANDONS MR. HUGHES.

Mr. Hughes' failure to get the solid railroad President vote is foreshadowed in an admirable statement bearing the name of Robert S. Lovett of the Union Pacific Company. While Mr. Lovett is almost as much disturbed by the Eight-Hour Law as the legalistic Mr. Hughes appears to be, he nevertheless favors the retention of President Wilson and a reason which has not as yet received a great deal of attention.

Under this Administration, it seems, business has had to deal "only with law and not with executive orders and favoritism." No "special dispensations to form trusts" have been granted, and "has not been necessary, and it has not been necessary, to 'consult the White House rather than counsel' before engaging in extensive enterprises. 'The statutes and not the Presidential feelings or state of mind' have been the guide of business. As compared with 'recent Republican Administration' these conditions 'appeal to Mr. Lovett with such power that he is willing to overlook some things and take his chances with a President who has given him the free peace and an open field for a fair fight.'"

"At Republican headquarters such expressions, of course, are regarded as rank heresy, not to say blasphemy, and in some sections of the financial district there will be an inclination to hold Mr. Lovett and the whole Union Pacific system on a charge of high treason. We are in doubt only as to Mr. Hughes himself, who has taken all of his so-called arguments thus far from the railroad. Presidents, how is he to be one of the greatest of them?"

PRINCIPAL ISSUE IS SAFETY FIRST

Dispatches from Naval Officers Expected to Give Full Details of Attacks.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Final decision on the policy of the United States toward the U-boat raid off the New England coast has narrowed down, in the view of officials here, to a consideration of whether proper precautions were taken for safety of persons taken from the attacked vessels and left at sea in small boats.

Although without definite information as to the attitude which will be taken by President Wilson, with whom the decision rests, high officials are convinced that only direct evidence of inefficient steps to protect life will develop a diplomatic issue over the incident. A statement of the facts had been requested from the American naval officers at Newport.

While the president and Secretary Lansing were in conference at Long Branch today on the new aspects of submarine warfare the state department disclosed that the United States would not accede to a contention of the allies that all belligerent submarines, whether warcraft like the U-53 or merchantmen like the Deutschland, should be denied access to neutral waters and neutral ports. Acting Secretary Polk announced that a reply to the allies' memorandum on the subject declining to be bound by the suggested restrictions laid down by the allied governments already had been dispatched. Reports from the commanders at Newport are expected promptly, including affidavits from the commanders of the sunken vessels and a decision as to whether proper precautions were taken for the safety of passengers and crews will probably be made. On these reports, many officials believe, depends the policy of the government.

If they convince the president that Germany's pledges have not been complied with, the whole submarine controversy, officials expect, will be thrown open again. The conference today between the president and Secretary Lansing was called, it is understood, here, to consider in some quarters that under the best conditions there are elements of danger in placing passengers in open boats of miles from shore. At the same time attention is called to the fact that the point of the raid off Nantucket lay equally on the track of all incoming and outgoing steamers, any one of which might have afforded rescue. The presence of the American destroyers, officials agree, should not have been considered by the German commander and would not lessen his responsibility.

The allied embassies today continued the policy of absolute silence. No comment was made on the state department's announcements that this government had refused to accede to the allied contention regarding submarines in neutral waters. Every indication was that orders for secrecy have been issued from the entente capitals.
